DavidColeman&Co.

David Coleman and Co Accountants, based in Sutton in Ashfield, Nottinghamshire offer a full accountancy and taxation service to businesses and individuals. We focus on being your trusted partner, assisting you in all your business and financial requirements.

Being local accountants, we are small enough to provide a personal service, yet large and experienced enough to deal with most accountancy and financial issues.

As we network both locally and regionally, we have positioned ourselves to become first contact point for our clients when business queries arise.

We're also moving towards a cloud accounting package called Xero, which may be linked to one of the offers, I've attached some extracts of the text below:

Cloud software means your records keeping becomes more efficient, so you can spend more time doing what you intended when you set your business up

With cloud based accountancy software, real time checking and analysis can be performed by your accountant or bookkeeper without them being in your office, cutting down on the time it takes to have work reported on, meaning business decisions can be made quicker.
